

INCUBA Science Park - Skejby

INCUBA Science Park - Skejby is the home of biomedical companies and related activities and, among other things, it also houses a proficiency laboratory for Aarhus University Hospital. This division is situated next to the Aarhus University Hospital, Skejby.

The Aarhus University Hospital, Skejby is currently being expanded and will, in the years to come, become an influential health-scientific motive force in Northern Europe. It is the ambition of INCUBA Science Park - Skejby to contribute to this development by providing optimal opportunities for commercial development and for the testing of new knowledge within the field of health sciences.

In Skejby, INCUBA Science Park has 6,200 square metres at its disposal.

INCUBA Science Park - Skejby provides both office and laboratory facilities. For a presentation of the scope and prices of the facilities, please contact:
